

January 17, 2006

Working the rebound

Angie
Fenton

Actress Uma

Thurman split from her hubby of six years, Ethan Hawke, in 2004 but has more than bounced back with current beau, Andre Balazs.

"Everyone taunts you that rebound relationships aren't a good idea and that they don't work, but mine is working," says Thurman, 35, of her dalliance with the foxy French hotelier.

"It's lovely to have a man in my life who's cute, intelligent, interesting and complicated, and very supportive," she says in the February issue of InStyle, which hits stands Friday.

Swag bag

Presenters at last night's Golden Globes Awards bagged a gift box of goodies worth an estimated $62,000. Not bad for a few moments' work.

Among the freebies was an $800 Italian leather handbag created by designer Charlie Lapson, whose fan base includes Jennifer Garner, Jessica Alba and Felicity Huffman.

Last year's swag bag was worth $38,390 and included a $16,000 wine-tasting trip to Australia, reports LAObserved.com.